LOBBY

Bartholdi's original maquette of Lady Liberty greets 667 Madison visitors upon arrival. Gilbert Stewart's original portrait of George Washington—one of only two portraits the first President ever sat for—hangs behind the reception desk, staffed by the city's best and most committed operations team.

“ The west wall of our lobby was originally designed to display a fantastic piece of art.

Yet I could never find the perfect piece, given the size and volume of the space and my commitment to do something really different. — Leonard Stern ”
